Engineering Economics journal aims to publish empirical research that tests or extends economics and management theories and contributes to practice. All empirical methods, including, but not limited to, qualitative, quantitative, field, laboratory, meta-analytic, and mixed methods are welcome. To be published in EE, the research must make empirical and theoretical contributions, and the manuscript should highlight the relevance of those contributions to economic development or management practice. Authors should strive to produce original, insightful, interesting, important, and theoretically bold research that demonstrates a contribution to the field's understanding of an issue or topic.

An article's text should be arranged in two columns (width: 8,4 cm – spacing: 0,6 cm.) 10 pt.

The text should be written in English with 1 interval spacing. Each paragraph should start on a new line (0.6 cm).

For the citation of authors, use Latin letters only, e.g. (Morrison, 2011); (Morrison, 2011; Battilana & Lee, 2014) or (Backus et al., 2020).

The list of references is presented in one column (10 pt) according to the alphabet. References (not less than 25 resources applying APA format, wide use of ISI (<http://www.isinet.com/isi/>) and the list of cited research publications, e.g.:

Inzinerine Ekonomika-Engineering Economics, (all the references should be noted in the text of the article);

Here are some basic reference forms (journal article; book; book chapter, the Internet address), each publication should start on a new line (0,75 cm), the spacing between research publications is 3 mm, the text is written with an interval spacing, e. g.:
